St. Albert Mill Rate Set at 73

St. Albert Town Council gave first reading to a By-law setting the 1967 Mill Rate at 73 mills, up 11 mills over last year.

Council voted in favour of a motion requesting permission from the Local Authorities Board to use about $25,000 of unexpended debt-moneys towards the Arena construction costs. If this request is granted the mill rate could drop to 71. Councillor Bakker's motion that the mill rate be reduced to 70.5 by deleting the additional arena costs of $40,000 was defeated.

The Budget as it stands shows a surplus of $11,885. One mill equals $15,240.

Councillor Wheatley commented that Council established a "pretty good record" for itself by being able to set the mill rate at 73.

In other council news Council received a report from Building Inspector, Loyd Abram advising them of the costs involved to bring a so called "army hut" into use as a Kindergarten. Council had previously received a proposal to lease one of these buildings from the Creative Schools Society. Mr. Abram estimated that to bring one of these prefabs up to education and health department standards would cost approximately $18,000 which does not include interior or exterior painting.

The Town invited submissions from all organizations interested in the use of these buildings, but only one other reply was received from the Craft Guild.

Staff was asked to find out the cost of providing a basement for the building and also report on the annual capital cost with and without basement.

Councillor Gibbon asked that a special meeting be set up in August to discuss a Special Sales Tax in Al-

Mr. Roy Gilley's prize-winning Eldorado beard gives him a distinguished air, coupled with his natty Klondike suit and walking stick. He is holding the plaque inscribed for Eldorado class winner, 1967 and has also an identical one as Bonanza winner in the Klondike Days Beard Contest.

Local Man Grows Best Klondike Beard

Roy Gilley's "Eldorado" beard was named best overall and won the Bonanza prize in the final judging of the MacCoshams-Labatts Klondike Days Beard Contest at noon Saturday. Roy won the Eldorado section last Tuesday for $50 in cash and a berth in the Bonanza final which added a further $150 to the money his handsome snowy white beard has netted him. In addition he has two attractive plaques with inscribed metal scrolls mounted on wood.

Although he has grown a Klondike beard for the past three years, this was the first time Roy entered the contest, being persuaded to do so by a friend. He just got in a few hours before the deadline. Over 400 beard growers in five classes were judged the week before Klondike Days in a series of eliminations at Coachman Inn. Anyone using any artificial aids such as tints or sprays was disqualified, mustache wax being the only cosmetic allowed.

Judging was done daily Monday through Friday in front of the Royal Bank of Canada at noon in each of the five classes and Saturday for the best over-all. Two barbers and one lady model acted as judges, with a different threesome for each day and they took their job seriously. Beards were examined under magnifying glasses, tugged and pulled, growth measured and trim checked.

Mr. Gilley's employers, Swift Canadian Company, presented him with a photograph of himself in his smart Klondike suit and beard, and a picture has been forwarded to the Chicago office for publication in their trade magazine.

In fact the Gilley's were able to do a fair share of spreading the news about Klondike Days. Mrs. Gilley and their two children also have full Klondike dress and the morning they came out of the photo studio the four of them were stopped five times while walking a few blocks by tourists, wanting pictures and enquiring about their outfits. These people were from California, Colorado, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Minneapolis. The Minneapolis visitor was a newsman and took a picture and details for his paper.

Shirley Clark is crowned 1967 Dairy Princess by last year's Princess Janet Olesen of Daysland. William Henning, president of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, proudly stands by.

Alberta's New Dairy Princess

Nineteen-year-old Shirley Eileen Clark of Namao, just north of Edmonton, is Alberta's new Dairy Princess.

She was selected in a four-day competition that concluded July 28 at the Edmonton Exhibition, winning out over four competing finalists. Arla Barry, 19 of St. Albert was runner up.

Miss Clark, a first-year student in home economics at the University of Alberta will represent the province at various dairy and agricultural events for a year before going to Toronto in 1968 to represent Alberta in national finals at which the 1968-69 Canadian Dairy Princess will be named.

The new Dairy Princess is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clark, who operate a dairy farm. There are two sons in the family. She was educated at rural schools near her home and her hobby is animal training—from cats to cattle.

She leaves next week for a ten-day trip to Expo and a 4-H Club youth seminar at L'Estrel, Que., an award she won in club competitions earlier this year.

In addition to her trip to Toronto next year, Miss Clark won wardrobe vouchers valued at $100 and a set of matched luggage.

Finalists in the Dairy Princess contest were Miss Clark; Miss Barry, 19 of St. Albert; Carol Bamford, 18, Midnapore; Shirley Pickard, 20, Olds; and Anne Wearmouth, 17, Cochrane. Last year's winner was Janet Olesen of Daysland.

The Dairy Princess competition is sponsored jointly by the Alberta Dairymen's Association, the Alberta Milk and Cream Producers' Association and the Edmonton Exhibition Association. It is supervised by the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

Honors to St. Albert

The float constructed by the Town of St. Albert employees as their Centennial Project is very well received wherever it goes. The float won second prize in the municipal division in the Calgary Stampede Parade and was awarded First Prize in St. Paul.

Peter Lougheed Named Keynote Speaker For National PC Convention

Alberta Conservative leader Peter Lougheed has been named a keynote speaker at the national Progressive Conservative centennial convention, September 6-10 in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

Mr. Lougheed's acceptance of the convention committee's invitation was announced by national PC treasurer Roy Deyell of Calgary.

In making the announcement, Mr. Deyell said Alberta Conservatives were "particularly pleased and accept this as a great compliment to Mr. Lougheed and the Conservative Party in Alberta."

The committee's invitation letter explained Mr. Lougheed had been selected in recognition of his "outstanding contribution" to the PC party at the provincial level, and of the "growing importance of youthful leadership in the years immediately ahead."

A second keynote speaker at the convention will be Roger Regimbal, federal MP for Argenteuil-Deux-Montagnes, a convention co-chairman.

The committee expressed belief that these two keynote speakers "can establish the convention proceedings on a plane of the highest calibre, reflecting not only the importance of leadership at the federal and provincial levels, but also the dual cultural basis upon which Confederation has been built

Centennial Caravan "Hits the Trail"

At 4:30 a.m. on Aug 1 the Armed Forces Centennial Caravan took to the road with its first show scheduled in Spirit River on Aug 2.

The caravan consists of 32 exhibits contributed by the Armed Forces and civilian firms. The smaller displays are in five trailers with heavy equipment arranged for display out of doors.

The Princess Patricia Light Infantry Band travel with the crew and personnel and equipment for an entertaining two-hour show.

A preview of the caravan and the show was held at Hamilton-Gault Barracks last week. The show includes a variety of numbers by the band, contests, demonstrations and a gymnastic display.

The Caravan displays range from the history of units, their functions and roles to the modern equipment used by the Canadian Armed Forces in their defence of Canada through NATO, the UN and at home.

Around Town

Mr. Armand Donais got on last week's front page as one of the head table guests pictured at the civic banquet tendered the exchange students from Richmond and he wasn't even there. (The gentleman that looked like him was from Richmond) Councillor Richard Wheatley represented the Town of St. Albert on this occasion and he was in the picture, but wasn't even named. In fact that group of young people seemed to jinx the skinny blonde married to publisher Jamison. A few evenings later she went to the Barbecue put on by Mayor Fowler and very much enjoyed meeting the Quebec students and the couple accompanying them on their visit to St. Albert. Pictures were taken of Mayor Fowler and Elmer Harrison barbecuing the steaks, and of the visitors grouped on the church steps. The students were most friendly and helpful, supplying their names in order of their grouping. But alas back at the darkroom we discovered that the film had been faultily inserted and we didn't get a single picture. Before this week's paper is on the street that copy girl is going camping with her daughter and friend!

Tony Redpath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Redpath of 6 Greenwich Crescent has won several prizes upon completing his first year at the University of Alberta. Tony, an honour student while attending Paul Kane High continues to distinguish himself. It was announced last week he has been awarded the following prizes. The Lehmann prize in Chemistry, the Fefferman prize in Mathematics and the U of A War Memorial Scholarship.

Klondike Kurler Mr. Armand Donais defeated Hec Gervais, also of St. Albert, 7 - 5 in the final of the inaugural Klondike Bonspiel at the Balmoral Friday evening. The other players on Mr. Donais' winning rink are Jack Draper and Ray Como of Edmonton and Ray Kremer of St. Albert. Mr. Donais is secretary-manager of the Edmonton Curling Club.

Mrs. Walli Knobloch of 27 Gillian Crescent won a Color T.V. at the Edmonton Exhibition last week. Mrs. Knobloch's ticket was drawn in the Rotary Club's daily T.V. award.

The athletic and generous residents of St. Albert who joined in the Oxfam Share-Canada Walk on June 3 will be happy to know that over $38,000 dollars was collected for the hungry people of the world on that march. This works out to more than $1,500 per person who made the walk. Expenses totalled $925, and something over $39,000, was turned in by the sponsors of the walkers.

The winner of the Edmonton Rotary Clubs' color TV set on July 24 at Klondike Days was Mrs. Wally Knobloch, 27 Gillian Crescent, St. Albert.

Return to England

Mr. & Mrs. Hugh Williams are going back to England after spending 10 years in Canada.

Mrs. Williams has been on the staff of the St. Albert City Hall as senior stenographer and secretary to the mayor and secretary-treasurer for the past seven and a half years.

On July 31 the Social Club of the Town of St. Albert's staff honoured Mrs. Williams and presented her with a Mexican tooled leather handbag. The presentation was made by the club president, Charles Ward, who wished her every success in the future and who expressed how deeply she will be missed by all.

On Aug. 1 the ladies of the Town Hall staff hosted Mrs. Williams for supper at the Bonaventure.

Mr. Williams is employed with The Workman's Compensation Board.

MOLSON'S MUSIC HALL

Molson's Music Hall, $70,000 addition to permanent facilities at the Edmonton Exhibition Grounds, was officially opened last week.

The 60x100-foot Music Hall, part of the new Klondike Village near Northlands Club House, is complete with stage facilities, theatrical lighting and sound equipment.

The building will accommodate 300 patrons seated at tables where they can enjoy light refreshments while watching a stage show featuring local talent.

Mr. E. T. Wiltshire, provincial supervisor of public libraries, cuts the ribbon with a flourish as he officially opens the Legal Library. Mrs. Joe Nault, President of the library committee faces him. At left are Mr. Ed Savole of Villeneuve, of the K.C. Guard of Honour, Mayor Leon St. Martin of Legal, Mrs. Emile Prefontaine of the committee, both in distinctive Fete au Village attire, as is Mrs. Nault. Following the ceremony all were guests at the Civic banquet at noon Saturday. Gazette Photo.

Library Plans Cultural Evening

The St. Albert Public Library Board met on July 13.

It was decided that Dr. Mirlin would be in charge of arranging the Cultural Evening to be held Sept. 1. This will be an invitational function. Future Cultural Evenings will be open but a limited number of seats are available and tickets must be obtained from the secretary of the board.

A 'pay' phone will not be installed in the building.

Correspondence from the Town Council was read and it was decided that the administration of the Library be placed in the hands of the Library Board.

The Mayor will be notified in regard to Library Board meetings.

A portable Lecture room entrance sign, a variable type of notice board, and a coffee urn and paper cups will be purchased.

Mrs. Johnston will make up the book order for the year; - It will be divided between children's and young adult books.

If monies are remaining from the building of the Library that these monies will be allotted to landscaping.

Bank Trophy Won By Fawcett Youth

An Alberta and a Saskatchewan junior farmer took top honors in junior competitions in connection with the Canadian Centennial Swine Exhibition at the Edmonton Exhibition.

Gordon Smith of Fawcett was winner of the junior swine judging event and was awarded the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce Trophy as top junior judge. Ronald Berg of Camrose was second, and Lloyd Smith of Fawcett placed third. There were 25 competitors.

In the showmanship class, Donald E. Brooks of Rosethorn, Saskatchewan, placed first and won the Burns Foods Ltd. Trophy. Jurgen Preugschas of Mayerthorpe was second; Barbara Fuls of Waskatenau, third, and Tommy Armstrong of Saskatoon, fourth.

Councillor Wheatley wondered why the Tennis Courts have been locked up on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. He asked for a report from the Recreation Department on the usage of the Courts. Mr. Wheatley also wanted it clarified that the fact that no drawing or plans for the Arena were ever submitted to Council is not at all irregular.

Council congratulated Deputy Mayor Armand Donais on his recent Curling Victory. Mr. Donais' rink defeated former World Champion Hec Gervais in the Klondike Bonspiel last week.

Armed Forces Day Namac Aug. 5

This year's Armed Forces Day and Edmonton's Centennial Air Show, to be held at Namac on August 5, will be the biggest yet seen in this city. It will feature equipment and performances by all three elements of the Canadian Armed Forces as well as civilian aircraft.

The day will be divided into three phases. Phase one from 11:00 a.m., until noon will feature radio controlled model aircraft which will feature aerobatics, racing and other manoeuvres to delight young and old alike and in particular those who enjoy the hobby of aircraft manufacturing.

There will be a lunch break from noon until 1:00 p.m. when the civilian airshow will take place. Spectators will see some of the early aircraft flown by the airforce such as Tiger Moths, the old Cornell and the famous Harvard Trainer, which was only recently retired after 25 years of service.

A glider will perform aerobatics, there will be a crop dusting demonstration and parachute free fall sky diving. This phase is climaxed by an aerobatic display by a P40, of world war two fame.

From 2:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m. marching bands will perform and a Hercules Transport aircraft will arrive to disgorge troops and the new armoured Personnel Carrier from its cavernous interior.

The military show will kick off immediately after with a fly past of 12 CF

-104's, jet Starfighter aircraft from Canadian Forces Base Cold Lake. Paratroopers from the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry will drop from Otter aircraft flown by the City of Edmonton Squadron and then will appear Canada's renowned "Golden Centennairs", nine Tutor aircraft performing unbelievable formations and patterns in the sky. With the Centennairs will be a CF-101 Voodoo from Air Defence Command and a CF-104, our NATO aircraft, flown by Flight Lieutenant Rene Serrau of CFB Cold Lake.

Somewhere in the middle of all this high speed performance will be an Avro 504K, vintage 1919, chugging along at 75 m.p.h. These biplane trainers were last used by the airforce in 1928, and have a maximum range of 250 miles.

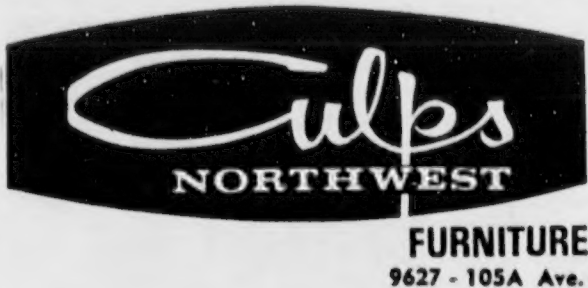

During the day there will be static displays throughout the airfield area, such as Search and Rescue in action, armament, a reproduction of the silver dart, Naval equipment and divers, 105 mm howitzer Armoured Personnel Carriers, transport helicopters and a myriad of commercial and civilian aircraft.

Refreshments will be available at Namac and Sunburst bus lines are running shuttle service from the Northgate parking area at 137 Ave and 97th Street, to the airfield during the day. The gates open at 10:00 a.m. and there is no admission charge.

Air Cadets at Summer Camp. Eight members of 533 Squadron, St. Albert, Royal Canadian Air Cadets, and their escorting adult Mr. Jamieson Cw Instructor are attending summer camp, at Canadian Forces Base Penhold, from July 24 to Aug. 6. The aircraft in the background is an Air Transport Command Otter used for familiarization flights for cadets. Other activities include sports, gliding, tours, bush familiarization and, naturally, drill.

the Gazette REFLECTS

This week's striking of a mill rate of 73 - an increase of 11 mills over 1966 - is going to add fuel to the fire as far as those taxpayers who oppose the new arena are concerned. The 272 persons who signed a petition asking for a plebiscite before Council proceeds with borrowing an additional $50,000 for an arena over $75,000 borrowing approved last year, have decidedly strong views against the project. It appears that they are gaining wider support as time passes.

Councillor Donalds has questioned the type of building being planned, but Councillor Bakker's has been the lone voice opposed to the project. In this situation a vigorous debate on the pros and cons by Council has not taken place.

Indeed the majority of the town fathers seem to be in a tearing rush to get the building underway - details can be ironed out later. Unfortunately those pesky details can turn out to be frightfully expensive sometimes.

In view of the high mill rate just struck, this haste is difficult to understand.

There is no doubt that a fine arena would be a decided asset to the town, with its concentration of young families. There may be doubt as to whether the taxpayers can afford it. The fact that an arena will cost more to build in the future does not establish that we can afford it now.

Dormitory towns have their advantages - St. Albert is indeed a pleasant place to live. Which is why most of us are here. But perhaps we cannot have our cake and eat it too. A good many of our residents, and they include the more financially able, belong to clubs in the city where their families can swim, skate, bowl, curl etc. etc. Y facilities are also used extensively, and thus to some extent many recreational facilities in our dormitory community may verge on a luxury rather than a necessity. We believe that the arena is one we should most certainly have - and that it should take priority over other major sports facilities. Under good management it can operate with considerably less annual cost than the pool and possibly even at a profit. Such a building would be used six months of the year once an ice plant is added, and possibly for year round activities as well, if the location is the right one.

While we are in full support of building an arena in St. Albert, we feel that the petitioners in this case should have been paid more attention by Council and that a slow down on the project is in order, so that the public may be fully informed on just what type of an arena they are going to get, how it will be managed and fairly close estimates on original building costs and operating costs.

Comments

The threatened strike by the SIU causes concern to the western farmer because if this strike takes place, it could tie up grain shipments from the prairies and create chaos in our grain handling facilities that are already employed to the limit.

The western farmer has proven that he can grow the finest wheat in the world and Canada has earned a reputation through the Wheat Board's high standard of cleanliness and quality. The farmer has also become increasingly proficient in his production abilities and can grow all we can sell.

We are however, still using archaic methods of receiving, buying, shipping and storing this valuable export commodity.

Last year, we ran out of box cars, this year we are threatened with a shipping tie-up. Each year the farmer has to deliver under a quota system that is frustrating and costly to him in time. A wet harvest season creates additional problems, particularly in the Peace River and Athabasca country because of the lack of grain drying facilities.

Canada has a tremendous opportunity to develop our grain trade with the nations of the world but we must find solutions to these problems of shipping and storage so that we can retain the confidence of those nations in our ability to deliver the goods.

Morinville man marries Riviere Qui Barre girl

On July 28, in a lovely mid afternoon double ring ceremony, Miss Dorice Bourbonnais daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herve Bourbonnais of Riviere Qui Barre was united in marriage to Mr. Fernand Proulx, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Proulx of Morinville in St. Albert Roman Catholic Church with Rev. Father J. Levangle officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a full-length gown of white peau de Faille, fashioned in A line style and featuring a lace back panel falling from the shoulders and extending into a formal cathedral train with scalloped edging. Seed pearls and crystal beads were embroidered into the bodice with matching design repeated on her chapel cap, which held in place a shoulder-length veil of French net. She carried a mauve orchid on white lace with satin streamers.

Bridesmaids, Miss Claire Bourbonnais, sister of the bride, and Miss Lorraine Proulx, sister of the groom, chose identical gowns of blue and green chiffon in toga style with turquoise blue chiffon panels in both front and back, and rolled necklines. Elbow length white gloves complimented their ensembles, each carried a miniature bouquet of carnations tinted to match the blue of the gowns.

The groom was supported by best man Mr. George Prince of Edmonton, and Mr. Paul Henry Casavant of Morinville. Mrs. Bertha Kennedy was the organist and Mrs. Gerard Caouette and Mrs. William Krauskopf, both of Legal were soloists.

Mrs. Proulx chose a two-piece pink crepe suit, complimented by white accessories. Both mothers wore gardenias en corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception and banquet was held at the Club Mocombo for 155 guests, when Mr. Joel Arcand from Calgary was the M.C. and Mr. Lloyd Tighe of Edmonton, proposed the toast to the bride. A wedding dance for some 500 guests was held in the evening.

For her honeymoon, a three week trip to Expo, the bride changed into a blue wool ensemble, featuring a blue dress and blue and green coat to match, a matching blue and green bubble hat and black patent accessories. Upon their return from the East, Mr. and Mrs. Proulx will reside in Edmonton.

Something New

There is always something new under the sun, and this time it lies in the Badlands of the Red Deer Valley Alberta, Canada.

In early July of this year Don Gibb, a university student living at Rosemary, Alberta, discovered the exposed thigh bone of a dinosaur lying on a knoll in the southeastern section of Dinosaur Provincial Park. The unusually heavy snow fall and the winds of the past winter hastened the progress of time-erosion, and this petrified remnant of life, buried for possibly 70 million years, is now clearly visible. Expert advice is being sought on the probability of a complete skeleton being buried in the vicinity of the new find; or if the bone drifted by itself until it became bogged down in the mud of the receding Inland Sea of ancient times.

Dinosaur Provincial Park is just a few miles north east of Brooks on the trans Canada Highway in south-eastern Alberta. This park has yielded several complete skeletons, many partly complete and a number of bone fragments. Specimens of the area are on display at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto, the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C., U.S.A., and in other museums. The park itself has several exhibit buildings and points of interest. Visitors are always delighted too by the excellent camping and general park facilities. For further information please contact the Parks Branch of the Department of Lands and Forests or the Alberta Government Travel Bureau.

Two hours after midnight, the innocent prodigals came upon the hearth fires of their people. There was joy on both sides - better still, plenty to eat in the camp. This was something of which the newcomers would hastily assure themselves, but their people wise from similar experience gave them at first only bouillon with tiny pieces of buffalo-meat chopped in it.

Food, fire and the sense of Home was their: that was Heaven after the cold and pitiless uncertainty of the plains.

In three or four days they had begun to eat solid food and live like their brethren - which for that season and in that particular camp meant living very well, with dried meat in abundance, fresh pieces of rib-meat and buffalo hump. What more could the heart of the plainsman desire?

It was now Christmas Eve - Ka-nipa-ayam-itiak (The-time-we-pray-at-night). Although still weak Father Lacombe had to bestir himself. He had spent the first days in the lodge of Chief Sweet-Grass, but now he showed the materials for his house-tent to the Indians and asked them to set it up. They complied with delight; it was an honour to have anything to do in connection with this novelty.

The snow was cleared away by the squaws, while the men set up the frame and covering. The camp stove was put in place, a pile of wood cut for it and the snowy ground of the tent covered with boughs and buffalo-skin. Such luxury and comfort had never been known on the plains before.

When Father Lacombe was installed the old men gathered about his doorway. Awed by the elegance of his domicile they were at first shy about entering.

But they soon found their way in with their pipes and philosophy and made themselves entirely at home . . . until Father Lacombe had to clear the room to hear the confessions of those who were already Christian.

For the first time on the prairie Father Lacombe was to exercise his priest's privilege of celebrating three Masses on this one day of the year. From his doorway, when the bell had called the camp to attention, he announced that all the chiefs and hunters were to attend the first Mass, the women the second, while the Mass after daylight was to be for the children.

Midnight found him at an altar made of poles
The GAZETTE

St. Albert Historic

surmounted by his chapel-box in which were the vestments, the altar-stone, the linen and vessels necessary on the altar. Every foot of kneeling space was occupied by the men.

"As I robed myself for the Mass," he has written, "this is what passed in my heart. . . . 'The Holy Gospel tells us that the shepherds of the valley of Bethlehem came to the stable to adore the divine Child. And here tonight in this wild country in North America another kind of shepherds - the shepherds of the great flocks of buffalo - are kneeling down to adore the same Child Jesus, the Son of God, that lay on the straw in Bethlehem in the far east.'"

"And when these old shepherds began to sing the canticles of the Church in their own tongue - 'Em'gwa tibiskayik' - 'Ca, bergers assemblons nous' - for some time I could not begin my Mass because the tears came and I wept. Ah, that scene was a poem. . . . Sasay Manito, awasis' . . . Those warriors and hunters singing the hymns that are of the Church the whole world over, the same old melodies we sang at St. Sulpice for the Noël! Ah-h! He never spoke of this night without emotion.

"I have said Mass in Saint Peter's at Rome, in fine basilicas in France and in many places - but I say to you, this was the most solemn Mass - the most grand of all."

When the Mass was ended, the young priest, so happy that he was conscious of no fatigue, dismissed the warriors with a glad--

"Bon Noël! My dear shepherds, go and smoke your Christmas calumet and take your rest."

Then followed the Mass of the Dawn. Now it was the women of the camp who came uniting their voices in sacred song. The Sacrifice was concluded and the women dismissed.

Father Lacombe, now thoroughly weak, felt his head reel with faintness as it did during that awful fortnight on the prairies, and in blind haste he packed away the altar fittings and threw himself down on the buffalo-skins to rest. The warm skins enveloped him; the earth welcomed him and breathed repose through him. Sleep closed his eyes.

Morinville.

Is the picture shown on the fence above a work of art? Certainly not. Is it the prank of young children at play? No indeed. It is a sample of the senseless, stupid destruction going on in many communities, and the type of vandalism which some local persons have been caught doing.

In all fairness it must be said that this destructiveness is the work of a minority element, but it certainly tarnishes the good work of the majority who do try to beautify their property. It also reflects badly on the community as a whole.

How can this kind of behaviour, along with stealing cars, opening fire hydrants, damaging gardens and buildings, the increasing number of young people using streets and roads for speed tracks, be stopped? Where does the flowing supply of liquor to minors come from?

With very few exceptions most communities need no more new laws. But what most communities do need is the enforcement without exception of the basic traffic and liquor control laws presently on the statute books. Such enforcement must have the full support of ALL adults in the community in order to accomplish its purpose. This means that adults who break liquor regulations and traffic laws must be punished according to the law regardless of social standing, the effect on their jobs or any excuse to rationalize violations of the laws.

For it is up to the adults to provide the firm and wise leadership which will set a fine example to the young people. If the adults and community leaders do not set a high standard then it becomes impossible to teach a high standard of citizenship to the young people.

Meanwhile the price of destructiveness is borne by all taxpayers and the costs are rising. Do you not agree that it is time for the adults to look to the quality of leadership they are providing, and to take a strong stand to check the current wave of vandalism in our community.

Miss Georgette Pare, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Pare, was crowned new Melle Fete au Village by last year's winner Judy Montpetit. The ceremony took place following a one and half hour concert by the "Mikis" popular and bilingual band and vocalist group from Edmonton at the Bandshell. Each of the five contestants spoke briefly and well, thanking their managers and supporters, and all the girls were presented with bouquets of red roses for fine community effort.

Morinville Memos

The best news of last week was the beautiful rain fall -2.02 inches according to Mr. Lou Calder, U.G.G. agent in Morinville that came when the crop situation had become critical in the district. Contrary to the general belief the rains were spotty not general. Clyde reports no relief at press time from serious drought.

Very little rain is reported west of Roy Como farms in Riviere Qui Barre, and Onoway district. The showers were very heavy in places, but no general rain covered the entire M.D. although most areas did enjoy good rains in the past week.

Lion Arthur Stapleton, accompanied by his daughter Miss Shelly Stapleton and Miss Dianne Williams a friend of Miss Shelly, drove to Chateau, Montana where the new slate of officers for District 37 B of Lions International took office. As past District Governor, Lion Arthur Stapleton gave his final report and handed the books to the new officers.

Anybody lost a diamond ring? Mr. Ed Brennies reported finding a boxed engagement ring last week. (See display ad for more details.)

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McDonald have returned from a motor trip to Vancouver, coming back home via Calgary.

NAMAO NEWS

by Audrey Gibson.

Get well wishes are extended to Bob Samis who is in the Royal Alexandra Hospital.

Louise Huber attended the Rural Youth Seminar at the Youth Building July 17 - 20.

Congratulations are extended to Shirley Clark who was crowned Dairy Princess 1967. Judy Crozier and Dianne Potter also were contestants.

On July 27 the Namao 4-H Garden Club held their tour of each members garden. All members met at Mrs. Jeffrey's home at 9:30 a.m. from there they proceeded to the other gardens. The gardens were judged by Home Economist Mrs. Hemsing, and by Mrs. Rebus who is also from the department. Considering the weather conditions a cool wet spring and hot dry June the gardens looked very good.

The club held their picnic lunch at Mrs. Kolba's. For the afternoon activity the club went to the government greenhouse which was very interesting. The highlight of the day was a cool swim at one of the city's outdoor pools. Both members and leaders went for a dip. The day was enjoyed by all.

WE'RE FLATTERED, INDEED, BUT...

There's only one Welcome Wagon.

Imitation, 'tis said, is the finest of compliments. And as a much-imitated organization, we're certainly flattered.

But as many have learned, the "reasonable facsimile" too often falls short of "the real thing."

So beware of substitutes, for there is no real substitute for the services of and the benefits provided through Welcome Wagon.

Congratulations to Mr. Walter Heppler who won a scholarship in Education Research. Only four of these were granted in Canada. Congratulations are certainly a very modest way to pay tribute to a local scholar who has gained such an honour on his own merit. Very best wishes, also Walter on behalf of all your many friends on your coming marriage later this month.

The visitors are enjoying their trans Canada bus trip. After their two week stay among relatives and friends in this district they will continue to Vancouver, then to Sacramento, California, before
